

ENGLISH | MARC HUCKLE | @ www.intercambioidiomasonline.com

Intercambio Idiomas Online

PRESENT PERFECT:
ADVERBS

Fill in the gaps with the correct adverb: already, yet, still, just, ever, for, since, during, recently, finally, lately

1. I have _____ finished my homework so now I can take a break and watch some TV.
2. I _____ haven't finished my lunch so I would appreciate it if you left me in peace.
3. Life sucks and it seems to have all been a waste of time _____ the day I was born.
4. Have you _____ visited one of the natural wonders of the world?
5. I haven't started my new job _____, but I am eager to get started.
6. Have you called your father _____?
7. How long have you been working in this language school _____?
8. I have _____ heard the news, how are you doing?
9. If you have _____ passed the exam, there is no need to listen to this information.
10. I are likely to face many more afflictions before the year has _____ come to an end.

Answers

1. I have just finished my homework so now I can take a break and watch some TV.
2. I still haven't finished my lunch so I would appreciate it if you left me in peace.
3. Life sucks and it seems to have all been a waste of time since the day I was born.
4. Have you ever visited one of the natural wonders of the world?
5. I haven't started my new job yet, but I am eager to get started.
6. Have you called your father yet/recently?
7. How long have you been working in this language school for?
8. I have just heard the news, how are you doing?
9. If you have already passed the exam, there is no need to listen to this information.
10. I are likely to face many more afflictions before the year has finally come to an end.