Methodology: PASS

An essential part of language learning is the method that we use to achieve fluency. Everyone learns in their own way and these small individual differences make every learning process unique, therefore, we have developed a simple methodology that can easily be adapted according to each learner's individual nuances. What is essential however is that learners have a strict process that is both achievable and they enjoy:

FIND A WORD - WRITE THE WORD - WRITE 5 SENTENCES - SAY THEM ALOUD

PRIORITIZE: language learners must choose what they wish to learn and focus their attention on what they need to know. A language has an almost infinite amount of vocabulary and structures, and learners need to pick what they wish to learn and write it down in their notebook in an organised way.

APPLY: learners should use the language that they have selected and put it into phrases and contexts that they are likely to use. It is important to have a clear idea of how you will use language. Write phrases, questions and expressions that are relevant to your life, you will remember them if they are personal.

SAY: to consolidate language, learners need to use language in a conversation. Saying new words, phrases and expressions out loud is a key element of our method. It will give you the confidence to speak fluently and you can also check pronunciation.

SEARCH FOR A SYNONYM: learners should avoid translation and try to improve your vocabulary. You need to link new vocabulary to synonyms and similar expressions, this will help you to enhance your speaking, reading, listening and writing skills.

This is a tried and tested method that is based on solid linguistic theory. We have based our method on a communicative approach to language learning that uses simplified grammar. Our principal focus is on communication, consistency and organisation. If it is followed in a consistent way, success is guaranteed!
