

ENGLISH | MARC HUCKLE | @ www.intercambioidiomasonline.com

Intercambio Idiomas Online

B1 OPEN CLOZE:
WORKING FROM HOME

READING PART 6: OPEN CLOZE GAPS FILL. FILL IN THE GAPS WITH ONE WORD

Working from home

The way we work is a constantly evolving process and recently, _____ most popular concept being adopted by businesses around the world is flexitime. Basically, companies are focusing more on productivity _____ time at work, therefore workers _____ given the options of adjusting their working hours to the timetable that best suits their needs. _____ cut down on running costs, most employers also allow their employees to work from home to save _____ time and money. The most surprising thing to remember is that people who work from home do not become lazy, _____ fact, their workrate improves and they usually do more work than people in the office because there are fewer distractions.

Answers:

Working from home

The way we work is a constantly evolving process and recently, the most popular concept being adopted by businesses around the world is flexitime. Basically, companies are focusing more on productivity than time at work, therefore workers are given the options of adjusting their working hours to the timetable that best suits their needs. To cut down on running costs, most employers also allow their employees to work from home to save both time and money. The most surprising thing to remember is that people who work from home do not become lazy, in fact, their workrate improves and they usually do more work than people in the office because there are fewer distractions.