Now, in this part of the test you’re going to speak together about something for about two minutes. I’m going to describe a situation to you.

You and your friends want to spend some time together, but the weather is really bad. What kind of indoor activities interest you? Here are some things you could do outdoors. Talk together about the different things to do in order to spend more time inside, and say which would be best.

All right? Now, talk together.
