

EXAMPLE 32

Now, I'd like you to talk about something together for about two minutes.

I'd like you to imagine that you are talking about families. Here are some of the ideas you could be thinking about and a question for you to discuss. First you have some time to look at the task.

Is it a good idea for families to spend their weekends doing these things together?

- going to the theatre
- going to museums
- spending time outdoors
- going on holidays
- learning how to do new things

Now, talk to each other about the different types of activities that families can spend their weekends doing together.

Thank you. Now you have about a minute to decide which is the best activity for families to spend their weekends doing together.

Thank you.

Now, discuss these questions, in order, as appropriate:

- Is it important to get on well with your family?
- Some people can't find enough time to spend time with their families. Why can this happen?
- Do most families have fun spending time together?
- Is it easy to find something that everyone likes doing when they spend time together?
- Why is it important for families to build bonds that will create good memories for the future?
