Our planet

What will you think about during your final hours? Did you do the best that you could? The mistakes you made could have had a huge impact on our planet. What may play on your mind is the fact that you did not leave the planet in such a good condition as when you entered it. And what might this mean for your grandchildren? Climate change is much like a forest fire, you prevent it by working today, not by waiting for it to start already. If you do not put together a means of looking after the planet right now, we will see more and more natural disasters in the future due to global warming. This will be a catastrophe for future generations!
